

Effective August 24, 2012

Thank you for visiting Reynolds Law P.C.'s website. We are pleased to provide you this Privacy Policy to inform you of our practices with respect to the collection and use of information about visitors to our website. By using this site, you consent to the following terms and our Terms of Use Agreement.

What Information Do We Collect?

When you visit our website you may provide us with personal information you knowingly choose to disclose that is collected on an individual basis.

Personal Information You Choose to Provide

You may voluntarily provide us personally identifiable information. If you choose to correspond with us through email, we may retain the content of your email messages together with your email address and our responses.

How Do We Use the Information That You Provide to Us?

Broadly speaking, we use personal information for purposes of enhancing or modifying our site, administering and expanding our business activities or responding to inquiries.

Sharing Information with Third Parties

We generally do not share information collected with third parties but reserve the right to do so.

How Do We Secure Information Transmissions?

Email is not recognized as a secure medium of communication. You should not send private or confidential information to us by email or otherwise in connection with our site.

Certain Disclosures

We may disclose your personal information if required to do so by law or subpoena or if we believe that such action is necessary to (a) conform to the law or comply with legal process served on us or parties affiliated with us; (b) protect and defend our rights and property, our Site, the users of our site, and/or our affiliated parties; and/or (c) act under circumstances to protect the safety of users of the site, us, or third parties.

What About Other websites Linked to Our website?

We are not responsible for the practices employed by websites linked to or from our website nor the information or content contained therein. Often links to other websites are provided solely as pointers to information on topics that may be useful to the users of our website. Please remember that when you use a link to go from our website to another website, our Privacy Policy is no longer in effect. Your browsing and interaction on any other website, including websites which have a link on our website, is subject to that website's own rules and policies. Please read over those rules and policies before proceeding.

Questions and Updates

If you have any questions or suggestions about our privacy practices, or you wish to update or correct any personally identifiable information that you have chosen to provide us, please feel free to contact us at reynolds@reynoldslawpc.com.

Your Consent

By using our website you consent to our collection and use of your personal information as described in this Privacy Policy. We reserve the right to change this privacy policy at any time, but will alert you that changes have been made by indicating at the top of the privacy statement the date it was last updated.